DET 560 is the only U.S. Air Force or Space Force Detachment in the greater New York City area, hence our designation as NYC's Gateway to Air & Space.

Our goal is to train and educate students who desire to lead as officers in the Air and Space Forces upon graduating from college.

This journey affords students with dozens of internships, study abroad, foreign language, flight training, and many other specialized programs to choose from that will lead to their professional and personal development. In addition, we offer full and partial scholarships, as well as book stipends and monthly cash stipends to help with living and transportation expenses.

Graduates enter the Air Force or Space Force as Second Lieutenants with a promising starting salary, full medical benefits, and countless opportunities to travel the world, all while serving their country.

AFROTC Det 560 is located at Manhattan University in the Bronx. Students will study their academic major at their college or university from Monday through Thursday and attend ROTC courses in-person at Manhattan College on Friday's from approximately 7:30am-5:00pm.
